"A REVELATION."

The Regina Journal of the 4th inst., contained an article which we reproduced last week in these columns. It is a wonder that the people of the Territories are not all ablaze with indignation at the information therein given to the public. We are supposed to have a Government in the Northwest Territories comprised of a Legislative Assembly, from which is selected four men to form a Board to advise the Lieut. Governor. It looks beautiful on paper, but it is most outrageous and disgustingly repulsive in practice. The Lieut. Governor rules according to the erratic dictates of his own warped and gnarled will, which seems capable only for evil. He evidently ignores his Advisory Board, for surely they could never have advised him to purchase the class of books named in the Journal's article. What would have been said if Hon. Senator Atkins had been appointed Lieut. Governor of the Territories, and he bought Wesley's sermons, his life and other such Methodist books for the Government library? The Progress would have been just as ready to condemn him as it now condemns Royal. But Mr. Atkins' mind would have been above such things. It is a slander on that gentleman even to mention his name in such a connection. As if to cover up his tracks, the Lieut. Governor says the library is not open to the public. Let us remember; it is some months since The Progress called Mr. Royal a "despot" for certain official action; and there were a certain number of men who met and condemned The Progress for that statement. Has it not? But we must not forget our official dignity. It has since been shown that The Progress was right then (as usual), and this is the latest instance of despotism as great as Russian Czarism. Is the Dominion Government trying to kill Conservatism and their own political friends here as they did in Manitoba? It is certainly forcing effectual weapons for its opponents, and its friends have to grin and bear it, or revolt. If the Dominion Government would consult and act upon the advice of its best friends it would quickly put matters in the Northwest Territories in such a shape that the Lieut. Governor could not act but upon the advice of his Council, and they upon the instructions of the Legislative Assembly.

Prohibition is born, and its wings are spread for flight across this land, and no power on earth can crowd this Rocky Mountain eagle back into its former shell.—Tal-

ROYAL'S GREAT SIN.

The Dominion Alliance has just issued a circular, from which we extract the following table, compiled from Dominion blue books;

"Year 1888.—Permits issued, 4,442; gallons liquor imported, 56,389; cases tried, 420; drunk and disorderly, 61; assaults, rape, etc., 66; vagrancy, 6; gambling, 1.
"Year 1889.—Permits issued, 5,568; gallons liquor imported, 151,629; cases tried, 647; drunk and disorderly, 90; assaults, rape, etc., 24; vagrancy, 36; gambling, 24."

Regarding the awful revelations these figures make, the Alliance says: "Our Dominion statutes prohibit the bringing of liquor into these Territories, except under special permission in writing from the Lieut. Governor. The present Lieut. Governor issues permits with a recklessness that renders nugatory the law prohibiting the free importation and sale of drink, and as a result the country is cursed with an extensive liquor traffic that is a special peril to a newly settled country, where counteracting agencies are few and law is naturally difficult of enforcement. The native Indian population is suffering seriously, petty larceny, assaults, brawling, prostitution and other forms of disorder spreading among them at a startling rate. Idleness, poverty and gambling are prevalent at most centres of population."

There is but one word in the Alliance circular with which we cannot agree. We are not disposed to dispute its well authenticated facts; we do not dissent from its deductions from them. If it had said a great many stronger things the Citizen would have been prepared with stronger still. But when the Alliance calls these facts "startling," we have the impression that it has said what it does not mean. No reader of history can be startled at anything bad resulting from the liquor traffic, and the fact that Royal "issues permits with a recklessness that renders nugatory the law prohibiting," etc., is sufficient to render certain that all these evils will follow. The Alliance officials knew they would follow, and so do our politicians, and so did Lieut. Governor Royal—that is, if he knew anything at all of the matter on which he assumed to act in a manner so radical.

We don't intend that this official shall slip through a hole in the net,—there is nothing unexpected, unusual or "startling" at all about the matter. Either Royal was densely ignorant and wretchedly incompetent, or he was supremely wicked when he took this stand. He was trying no experiment. Centuries of experience have formed history regarding this matter; and it has everywhere been admitted, as everywhere and at all times true, that increased facilities invariably result in increase of luxury, assaults, brawling, prostitution and such other evils as the Alliance enumerates.

Now, then, did this permit system increase facilities? If so, no one need be "startled" as to results; indeed, common sense would have been as good to work and prepare for them—put on more police, increase the size of our prisons and "make a whip round" for more charity.

When Edison makes a discovery, we are "startled." When natural events do not appear to follow natural causes, we are surprised, not knowing the circumstances which have intervened to prevent what we anticipated. In fact, had not these terrible things followed the Lieut. Governor's action, we should have been "startled." As it is, we are simply disgusted; first, with what we will charitably suppose to be the guilty ignorance of the Governor General. Remember, there are things men ought to know. When a man takes up a responsibility affecting life, morality, or social safety, he should know what is at least likely to be the result of his acts. If he does not take the trouble to learn, he is scarcely less guilty than he would be had he acted directly in defiance of his knowledge.

Then, we feel disgusted with the quiet way in which men allowed this "permit" system to be stalled upon them. We say, and we have said it before, that it is a standing reflection on the free men of the Northwest that they did not resist this thing as they would, or should, the devil. But they didn't, and we in Ontario didn't stir them to resistance. What is the use of going to work and getting good laws, of seeing the glad fruition of our labors, and then let one man of his own autocratic will bowl them over as ninnies? Man! is this Canadian love of liberty?

We were going to blame the Alliance; we were going to say it should have fought like a tiger to prevent this thing; but we won't. A hungry creature will fight—but not a starved one. The Alliance is just a bag of bones. With a "constitution" good, with the ablest leaders, with enormous possibilities, it—well, it bravely does all it can; and that all is what those who can and do not support it have to take credit for.

We read the statistics with a feeling of disgust. Canada is as foolish as the babe who will not learn that fire burns till it has scorched its own hands. The Lord have mercy upon us, if this is all the use we are to make of history!—Canada Citizen.

PROHIBITION AND THE PARTIES.

The Canadian Nation, in an able article in regard to the churches and Prohibition, points out that while the church conferences and synods denounce the liquor traffic in strongly worded resolutions, declaring it to be the prolific parent of poverty, vice and crime, and affirming it to be the duty of parliament to suppress the traffic, and calling upon all co-religionists to sink party differences and vote for prohibition candidates, yet the traffic continues to lodge the real issue, and parliament plays fast and loose with the great question.

Our contemporary puts these practical questions, which every elector ought to solve with his own conscience:

Now we do not think for one moment that the men composing our Synods and Conferences are insincere. Their motives are good; their intentions are of the best. But somehow they seem to think that when they have passed resolutions in favour of Prohibition, they have done their whole duty, and are under no obligations to take any further steps. There appears to be and undercurrent of thought that whilst in the duty of the church, in its corporate capacity, to denounce the liquor traffic and vote for its suppression, the individual member is at perfect liberty to take an opposite course, or at least to vote Prohibition only when by so doing he will not injure his party or embarrass his political leaders. In conferences and synods Christian men are substantially of one mind in regard to Prohibition, and vote one way; at other times they are of opposing minds and vote two ways, but both adverse to Prohibition. The absolute sway of partisan feeling is something amazing. It really looks as if many Christian men would vote for the devil himself if only he received the party nomination. At all events they do not hesitate to vote for some who are manifestly his children.

But how can the churches vote their convictions so long as the choice lies between Conservative and Reformer? The thing is absolutely impossible. One cannot vote for a candidate without at the same time voting for the policy of his party; and there is no getting around the fact that both old parties are opposed to prohibitory legislation. The one party may, as is affirmed, contain far more Prohibitionists than the other, but this only proves it to be, if possible, the more guilty party of the two. And how can conscientious men remain in a party where they are not allowed to vote or even to voice their convictions in regard to the most important question before the country to-day?—Canadian Voice.

A RASH KNIGHT.
Mr. E. H. Knight of Morris, Minn., states that he was troubled with a rash all over his body which was cured with less than one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. He highly recommends it as a blood purifier of the greatest efficacy.

The more we see of the system of government under which we are living, the more we are satisfied that "one man" government should be overthrown. We will not be satisfied with any system which does not provide that the governor shall act upon the advice of his Advisory Council, and that Advisory Council be responsible to the Legislature; that on a vote of want of confidence by the Legislature the Advisory Council shall resign, and the Lieutenant-Governor select another which shall be in accord with the majority of the Legislature. If this much is conceded by the Parliament of Canada, together with the control of the funds for the public works, &c., in the Territories, as is intimated by Mr. Dewdney, when he was here, we think the people will be satisfied for a few years at least.—Vilette.

"Almost every crime has its origin, more or less, in drinking,"—Judge Gurney.
"Ninety-nine cases out of every hundred are caused by drinking,"—Judge Erskine.
"If I were not for drink, you (poor) and I would have nothing to do,"—Judge Pattison.
"If all men could be persuaded from the use of intoxicating drinks, the office of judge would be a sinecure,"—Judge Allison.
"Three fourths of the cases of crime have their origin in public houses and beer shops,"—Judge Wightman.
"Intemperance has destroyed large numbers of people, and will, at its present rate of increase, in time destroy the country itself,"—Justice Grove.
"I can keep no terms with a vice that fills our garrets and destroys the comfort of homes and the peace of families, and debases and brutalizes the people of these islands,"—Chief Justice Coleridge.—Virginia Law Journal.

Home & Gossip.

Little Local Links in the Town's Chain of History.

QU'APPELLE.

—Mr. H. Jagger was in town yesterday.

—The local sports are after the ducks and geese, which are plentiful.

—The editor is out again. He has several rods in pickle for next week.

—Threshing has begun and enquiries are being made as to the wheat market.

—Messrs. Jas Brown & Son have leased their blacksmithshop to Mr. Alex. Boyce, who will continue the business.

—It will be worth your while to attend the Temperance meeting in Government hall tonight.

—Mr. Jas. Scott shipped a carload of cattle west to his ranches near Calgary on Saturday last.

—Mrs. G. B. Murphy, of Moosomin, has gone east to visit friends in Ontario and Quebec.

—Now is the chance for new subscribers THE PROGRESS. From now till Dec. 31, 1891, over fifteen months for one dollar.

—Weather permitting, the Edgeley, Baptist and Methodist Sunday School will hold their union picnic on Friday next, the 26th inst.

—Another wire is being stretched along the C. P. R., the four wires heretofore in use being inadequate to do the business of the Co.

—The Municipal Council held a special meeting on Monday last, and extended the time for the expiration of the herd law till Oct. 25.

—Now that we are having fine drying weather again every farmer is rushing his work, and the daily enquiry is "Do you know where I can get a man?"

—The subject of Rev. Mr. Ferry's lecture next Wednesday evening will be "The broken links in the chain of Apostolic succession as shown in church history." It will be noticed that the night of the lecture has been changed from Tuesday till Wednesday.

—At the hotels: J. Rogers, J. Peters, Regina; J. Anderson and family, R. D. Smith and wife, Miss McDonald, C. E. Paulin, E. C. McDonald, B. F. Cooper, Ft. Qu'Appelle; O. S. Mowat, E. S. Hill, W. J. Cavanagh, L. C. MacIntyre, J. C. Gillespie, Winnipeg; H. J. Mathews, J. Lamb, Toronto; J. Austin, Coburn.

—The Baptist Church social which was to have come off on Monday evening next, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, the 23rd. There will be no admission fee and all friends will be made welcome. At three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day either Rev. Mr. Grant, of Winnipeg, or Rev. W. H. Jenkins, of Brandon, will hold a special service at which the ordinance of baptism will be administered. All are invited.

—Harvesting operations are very much retarded by excessive wet weather. It is feared that some of the grain has been injured by the continued rains. Last week a fall of snow which was very much flattened level with the ground in grain that was in standing. There is however, promise of finer weather and the grain will probably be threshed with serious loss. The extra work made necessary to insure the drying of the grain is likely to be the extent loss. The snow disappeared the second day after it fell.

"COME OFF THE FENCE."

This is the name of one of the excellent pieces to be sung at the open meeting of Qu'Appelle Council, R. T. of T., this Friday evening in Government Hall. Besides solos, duets, choruses, and other music, there will be addresses by Rev. J. Ferry, Rev. J. Tozeland and Rev. A. T. Robinson. This meeting will be well worth attending. A collection will be taken to defray expenses.

WAKING UP.

Said one of our bitterest political opponents, "the Prohibition party idea is not only making converts, but more it is dulling the edge of many of our committee men and making a dangerous detour for reading and thinking men." To all of which we say, amen. The people now understand what is meant by nonpartisan. It is the cloak used by the narrow and bigoted defenders of the old parties and is but the Sad rhyme of men who proudly cling To their first fault and whither in their pride. The country is waking up. A few years ago, an artist of Philadelphia was engaged by the state of South Carolina, to prepare some national emblematic picture for her State House. Jeff Davis was requested to act with the committee in criticising the studies for the design. The first sketch brought in by the artist was a design representing the North by various mechanical implements, the West by some thing else, while the South was represented by various things, the centre piece however being a cotton bale with a negro upon it fast asleep. When Jeff Davis saw it he said; "Gentlemen this will never do: What will become of the South when the negro wakes up." And we ask what will become of the rum ruled parties when the voters of this country wake up? With the bells of God ringing in every pulpit, temperance society and platform, will any need to say "couldst thou not watch with me one hour?" —Canadian Voice.

THE DOMINION ILLUSTRATED.

The Sherbrooke number of this fine pictorial weekly is really a credit to Canada. In the copiousness and execution of its illustration it surpasses all previous issues of the same kind and is worthy of the enterprise and progress of Sherbrooke. In the letterpress, the early settlement of the Townships, especially the St. Francis District, is recounted with accuracy and animation, and the present prosperous condition of the city is described very fully. No phase of the progress of the community is omitted from the survey. With these descriptions the illustrations are in harmony. Society, architecture, penitentiaries, it all is as fine as any Canadian establishment has yet turned out and will compare favorably with some of the best products of the British and American periodical press. It is a double number, and as it covers the entire month and social and economic development of the capital of the Townships, it will be well worth preserving. The Dominion Illustrated is published by The Subscription and Publishing Company, 73 St. James Street, Montreal.

THE SAMBO LIGHTHOUSE.

is at Sandus, N. S. whence Mr. R. C. Hart writes as follows: "Without a doubt Bartlett, Boston Editor, has done more for good in one week and week had no appearance, but B. B. B. made me feel smart and strong. Were its virtues more widely known, many lives would be saved."
